CLAIMS 1-26 ARE PRESENTED FOR EXAMINATION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. § 121:

- I. Claims 1-15, drawn to an apparatus for forming miniature tablets and a method of forming a miniature tablet, classified in class 264, subclass 40.5.
- II. Claim 16, drawn to a miniature tablet formed by the method of claim 9, classified in class 424, subclass 464.
- III. Claim 17, drawn to an apparatus for comprising product material into tablets, classified in class 264, subclass 297.8.
- IV. Claims 18-23, drawn to miniature tablets, classified in class 424, subclass 464.
- V. Claims 24-25, drawn to an apparatus for forming miniature tablets, classified in class 264, subclass 40.5.
- VI. Claim 26, drawn to an apparatus for testing the strength of a miniature tablet, classified in class 264, subclass 40.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II/IV are related as apparatus and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus (MPEP § 806.05(g)). In this case, a materially different process and/or a materially different apparatus can make the miniature tablets of Group II or IV than that recited in the claims of Group I. For example, punching the miniature tablets from a sheet of compressed material could make the tablets of Group II or IV.

Inventions I, III and V are directed to related apparatus. The related inventions are distinct if the (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed the distinct apparatus are not obvious variants, do not overlap in scope, and have materially different designs. For example, the apparatus of Group I has limitations and features not present in the apparatus of Group III or V. Similarly, the apparatus of Group V has features not present in the apparatus of Group I or III. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.

Inventions I-V and VI are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions are not disclosed as capable of use together, the apparatus of Group VI cannot be used to make any of the tablets recited in Groups II or IV, and the apparatus of Group VI is unrelated (in structure and function) to the apparatus recited in Groups I, III, and V.

These inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required. Because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1614

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
